RENEXPO® Bioenergy Europe – the industry platform for Europe The premiere event shows a promising future

Brussels, July 1st, 2010: The premiere of the AEBIOM European Bioenergy Conference & RENEXPO® Bioenergy EUROPE International Exhibition and Conference took place on Wednesday and Thursday in Albert Hall. Around 27 market leaders met with interested visitors in the heart of Europe to discuss the newest developments in the bioenergy sector.

As part of the exhibition, 27 exhibitors presented the entire range of bioenergies spanning from pellets and biomass to biogas and biodiesel. Some of the exhibiting companies included industry leaders such as Turboden s.r.l., Polytechnik Luft- und Feuerungstechnik GmbH, EnviTec Biogas AG, ANDRITZ Feed & Biofuel A/S, Thermaflex International Holding and Bruks Klöckner GmbH.

After the grand opening ceremony on Wednesday, the collaborative Hungarian booth presented by ITD Hungary Zrt – the Hungarian Investment and Trade Development Agency greeted visitors with a traditional Hungarian reception. The visitors also showed strong interest in the eight companies and trade associations that participated in the collaborative exhibition stand.

Right from the start, the RENEXPO® Bioenergy Europe was able to establish itself as an industry platform for Europe, according to project manager Avena Gall-Tamas from REECO Belgium sprl.

The European Bioenergy Conference organized by AEBIOM took place parallel to the exhibition and brought together over 300 experts in eight conference blocks and free workshops to discuss EU policies, RES guidelines, national implementation plans, analysis of the potential of bioenergy as well as financing and certification of bioenergy facilities. In addition, topics such as district heating and small heating systems were also discussed. Along with several members of the European Parliament, presentations were made by many other experts from the political and economic sphere as well as trade associations such as Kent Nystrom from the World Bioenergy Association, Dr. Matthias Nickel and Annerose Heuer from the German Federal Agency for Agriculture and Food (BLE) and Tuula Mäkinen from the VTT Technical Research Centre of Finland.
